ROUTES DU BONHEUR From the Atlantic to Alentejo, Portugal's Great Outdoors

Your journey begins in a fortress facing the Atlantic, between golden sandy beaches and epic cliffs. It then becomes an intriguing inland voyage, immersing you in the sublime Alentejo region. You won't fail to be captivated by the beauty of its vast meadows and hills carpeted with vineyards. The landscape unfolds with rolling plains, pastures and cork oak forests—a bucolic world simultaneously sculpted and preserved by humankind.

2 MONTEMOR-O-NOVO — 1 NIGHT

(1 property available)

L'AND Vineyards

At L'AND Vineyards, everything revolves around the pleasures of the vine: 6 hectares/15 acres of organic vineyards and the possibility of taking oenology courses, or creating your own bottles with labels that grace your own name, all thanks to the Wine Club. At Mapa restaurant, cuisine is elevated to the level of a universal language, celebrating the fusion of culinary cultures born from the numerous sea voyages of the Portuguese. This is a journey conducted to the rhythm of exceptional wines, some of which are produced in the property's own vineyards. The oenological experience continues at the vinotherapy spa in which some of the treatments are grape-based. Surrounded by vines, an outdoor infinity pool seems to extend into the waters of the lake. Ideal for relaxing, this family property is particularly appreciated by wine lovers as well as fans of the countryside and architecture. The castle of Montemor o Novo is within sight, and Évora, whose historic center is a UNESCO World Heritage Site, is only about twenty minutes away. Discover an original and sensory way to explore Portugal.

3 BEJA — 1 NIGHT

(1 property available)

Herdade da Malhadinha Nova

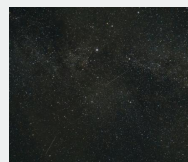

Hotel and restaurant in the country. A land of endless horizons, rich in colour and bursting with sunshine, Baixo Alentejo is one of Portugal's best-kept secrets. It is in the heart of this region, in the charming village of Albernoa, where Herdade da Malhadinha Nova reveals its splendours. Surrounded by 1500 acres of vineyards and wild fields, this family estate blends perfectly into the natural environment. Its bucolic setting even serves as inspiration within its walls, where handcrafted marble details and pieces mingle with contemporary works. As evening falls, enjoy a glass of one of the property's many vintages by the pool and let yourself be carried away by the sweet breeze floating through the air. Such timeless moments are the essence of a stay at Herdade da Malhadinha Nova.

4 MELIDES — 1 NIGHT

(1 property available)

Hôtel Vermelho

Over a period of twenty years, Christian Louboutin, founder of the eponymous couture brand, has developed a passion for the south of Portugal, particularly the tranquility of the small village of Melides in Alentejo, ten minutes from the Atlantic coast. The designer has opened Hotel Vermelho, a traditional property whose sky-blue façade is decorated with ceramics by sculptor Giuseppe Ducrot. They give a hint of an interior that is both baroque and joyful, with décor designed by Madalena Caiado. Here in this property, the owner invites guests to taste 'la vie en rouge', having called on the best artisans and some of his artist friends to contribute to its aesthetic, creating plaster sconces, magnificent wall frescoes and fascinating optical illusions. Typically Portuguese, but inspired by Louboutin's favorite color, the red tiles lining the floor of the bar come from the famed Azulejos de Azeitão ceramic factory. The hotel is also decorated throughout with furniture, antiques and objects taken from the owner's private collection. The hotel's rooms and suites, most with their own terrace that open onto the garden and swimming pool, each boast their own original style. Xtian restaurant serves tasty, bistro-inspired Portuguese cuisine using local artisanal ingredients.
