ROUTES DU BONHEUR Peru, a journey to the Incan Empire

Peru has gained a reputation in recent years as a must-visit destination thanks to the sheer number of its archaeological sites and relics. Yet the country has even more to offer for history enthusiasts, starting with its capital, Lima, nestled on the Pacific Ocean, packed full of museums and boasting a culinary heritage spanning more than four centuries. The journey continues through an unbeatable list of world-renowned destinations, including Machu Picchu, the city of Cusco, the Andes Mountains and Lake Titicaca. Enjoy an enchanting journey to the heart of ancient Incan culture.

1 LIMA — 2 NIGHTS

(1 property available)

Hotel B

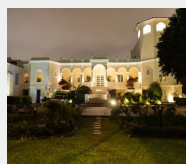

Hotel and restaurant on the seafront. This summer pavilion, dating back to the Belle Époque, is tucked away in the heart of the Barranco district, a protected historic area next to the Pacific Ocean. Marble, exotic woods, a beautifully columned white façade, open balconies and skyhigh ceilings lit by skylights in the roofs – Lima teatinas – give it a charm all of its own. Its renovation was entrusted to sculptors from the Fine Arts Academy and to an Italian cabinetmaker with a view to preserving and showcasing its rich architectural heritage. Hotel B draws its inspiration from the Bohemian atmosphere of the surrounding district and exhibits works by contemporary Peruvian artists, adding to the hotel's character.

2 IQUITOS — 3 NIGHTS

(1 property available)

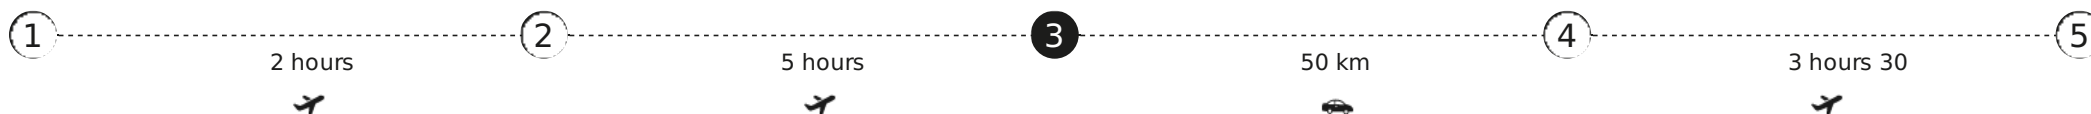

Delfin Amazon Cruises

Luxury cruises on a river. Board one of Delfin's three riverboats to explore Peru's Pacaya Samiria Nature Reserve. The cabins of this triple-decker ship have floor-to-ceiling windows, allowing you to enjoy the spectacle of the Amazon rainforest all day long — whether in the plunge pool, when looking up from your book or while sipping a pisco sour on the upper deck. In the evenings you will be lulled by the humming sounds of the jungle. Fill your days with new experiences: explore the shore by kayak, visit villages, swim with pink river dolphins, hop on a paddle board and enjoy night safaris. On board, guests can enjoy exquisite Amazonian-Peruvian cuisine, adding to your full immersion in the Amazon.

3 URUBAMBA — 4 NIGHTS

(1 property available)

Sol y Luna

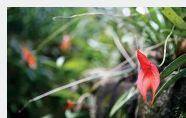

Hotel and restaurant in the mountains. At an altitude of 2800 m, colours are brilliant: the blue of the sky, the red of the earth and a fragmented mosaic created by a profusion of flowers. Sol & Luna is inspired by this luminous setting and is a paean to the Sacred Valley of the Incas. Its architecture is a mix of avant-garde and primitive Peru, its clay walls are a backdrop to both contemporary and traditional Peruvian art, and its stones, beams and bricks from the valley find their natural home here. Its mouthwatering cuisine also draws its inspiration from local gastronomy, yet with a contemporary twist. Sol & Luna is close to archaeological sites and offers a doorway to this lost civilisation.

4 CUSCO — 2 NIGHTS

(1 property available)

Inkaterra La Casona

Hotel and restaurant in town. This exquisite 16th-century colonial manor was one of the first Spanish buildings in Cusco, located just steps away from the picturesque main square. Once occupied by the conquistadors of Peru, it is now an exclusive boutique hotel that has been carefully restored to retain its historical heritage and décor. With its suites set around a Spanish courtyard, replete with antiques and original architectural details, Inkaterra La Casona offers sober elegance without sacrificing authenticity. This is the perfect base from which to explore the vibrant capital of the Incan Empire and absorb the mysticism of the surrounding Andean valleys and villages.

5 AREQUIPA — 2 NIGHTS

(1 property available)

CIRQA

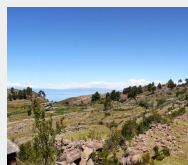

Hotel and restaurant in town. Cirqa echoes the wonders of 1540 — the year in which Arequipa was founded — and magnificently celebrates the city's immaculate white sheen. Under the benevolent gaze of three volcanoes, this recently restored former monastery embodies Arequipa's traditional architecture by flaunting its original sillar volcanic rock walls, which were carefully sculpted by local stonemasons. The captivating decor adds a modern touch, creating a unique balance between the past and present. At the hotel's Salón, the cuisine is an innovative reinterpretation of the region's gastronomic soul and iconic picanterías, and can be enjoyed while admiring the prodigious lunar landscapes that surround this delectable haven of peace.
