

ROUTES DU BONHEUR On the Kansai roads

The western part of the large island of Honshû, known as Kansai (West of the Barrier) has been considered a true gem of the Japanese archipelago since feudal times. From Osaka to Toyooka, via unmissable Kyoto, each of these ancient cities is home to some of the most beautiful temples, palaces and secret gardens in the country. From the coasts of the Seto Inland Sea to those, further north, of the Sea of Japan, you will also discover astonishing agricultural plains and peaceful landscapes that seem to come straight out of ukiyo-e, those timeless woodblock prints...

1 OSAKA — 2 NIGHTS

(1 property available)

The third largest city in Japan, Osaka at first appears to be a modern, lively metropolis. And since 2004, it has also established itself as a destination for art lovers, who flock to the National Museum of Art to see its collection of more than 8,000 contemporary works. Yet strolling along the city's main thoroughfares opens the door to some incredible cultural contrasts, not least the historic castle that seems to resist the glass and concrete buildings of the business district.

Kanamean Nishitomiya

Hotel and restaurant in town. The Kanamean Nishitomiya is one of the ryokans which have survived in the modern surroundings of downtown Kyoto. The wooden architecture hosts only eight suites which lead to a little Japanese garden with seasonal flowers. Futon, tatamis, bamboo furniture... true serenity is prevailing. Mr and Mrs Nishida, the fifth generation of hoteliers in this property, welcome you personally, respecting the Japanese tradition of hospitality. Like the very beautiful crockery in which the dishes are served, your hosts look after every detail inspired by the history of the Honeyancho district, renowned for crafted fans, which have given their name to the hotel.

Nishimuraya Honkan

Hotel and restaurant in a village. Tatami mat floors, sliding paper window doors, wooden terraces... Welcome to an authentic ryokan whose traditions have carried on for seven generations. Many of the rooms look out to a lush Japanese garden and its surroundings where Japanese pines and a variety of plants and trees, shade the moss covered statues and ponds. The experience would not be complete without enjoying the hot spring baths set in a grove of bamboo and the traditional kaiseki meals, whose small dishes rival in delicacy and offer the opportunity to taste Matsuba crab (seasonal) and Tajima beef.
