

ROUTES DU BONHEUR Southern India, sailing up the backwaters

Kerala reveals a distinct side of India. Featuring tropical forests and endless backwater canals, the region has a pleasant and exotic atmosphere. Sailing up this long, narrow coastal fringe, we can make out church towers among the lagoons and banana farms...

1 FORT COCHIN — 2 NIGHTS

(1 property available)

The Malabar House

Hotel and restaurant in town. The Malabar House is more than a beautifully designed heritage hotel. It is an art hotel, home of a carefully curated collection, highlighting Kerala's composite culture as a passage between East and West. The rooms are comfortable and the service is flawless. Malabar Junction, the hotel's renowned restaurant and Divine, its wine lounge, combine the tradition of South India with exciting culinary innovation. Enjoy classical music or a dance performance on the patio's stage, rejuvenate body and soul at the ayurvedic centre, step into the history and culture of Fort Cochin, and explore Kerala's backwaters on the hotel's own eco-friendly house boat.

2 MUHAMMA, ALLEPPEY — 2 NIGHTS

(1 property available)

Purity

Hotel and restaurant on a big lake. Overlooking Lake Vembanad with its palm-fringed shores, the Purity offers many authentic experiences including yoga and Ayurveda. The bright and spacious rooms with their handcrafted contemporary yet vernacular design stage a dialogue between the past and the present, showcased by a curated collection of regional art and antiques. Morning yoga sessions provide a gentle introduction to the day. Then you can go to the lake-side pool, indulge in an Ayurvedic massage treatment, discover the surroundings by boat, bicycle or tuk-tuk, attend a cooking class and enjoy the sunset over a canoe ride on the lake. The Purity kitchen serves creative cuisine with authentic Keralan flavours.

3 THIRUVANANTHAPURAM — 2 NIGHTS

(1 property available)

Niraamaya Retreats Surya Samudra

Restaurant and hotel on the seafont. Tucked away in the South Indian state of Kerala, Niraamaya Retreats Surya Samudra overlooks the Arabian Sea. Its cottages, nestled amongst the coconut trees and caressed by the sea breeze, offer the best in Keralian Heritage architecture. A path wends its way to the 'Chandra' beach - an idyllic beach with intensely private vibes. Ayurvedic massages and Thai relaxation therapies take you on exhilarating sensory journeys, while Yoga sessions on a platform at the cliff's edge make for an absolutely enlivening experience. In the restaurants, bold flavours compete with stunning views - the chef's Indian cuisine is a masterly blend of the most delicate of herbs with the warmth of spices.
